

Psychology Research Project (Riley)

A tool to organize all your research:

Noodle Tools – Sign-up and introduce Noodle Tools

A tool for highlighting and annotating all your articles:

Download Digolet

Refining your search Terms:

Refine your focus question and key words (Chpt. 16 Assignment)

RESOURCES:

SUBSCRIPTION DATABASES (Reference articles)

World Book Online (General Overviews!)

Student Resources (Journal/Magazine articles)

RELIABLE WEBSITES

The Social Psychology Network is a particularly well-maintained site with links to more than 5,000 psychology resources in all areas of psychology.

Russ Dewey's PsychWeb continues to be an excellent resource. See his Megalist for others.

American Psychology Association

Somatoform Disorders

The Internet Public Library

DIRECTORIES ON THE WEB - Information organized by topic

iSeek - found on the library site and a great source for digging deeper!

Academic Index - Created by the former chair of Texas Association of School Librarians, this meta-search engine only pulls from databases and resources that are approved by librarians and educators.

INFOMINE - Large collection of scholarly Internet resources collectively maintained by libraries of the University of California and others.